AUDI-0556

AIRCRAFT ANCILLARY INSTALLATION EQUIPMENT COCKPIT INTERCOM AUDIO ADAPTOR

The cockpit audio adaptor (AUDI-0556-01) provides galvanic isolation between the aircraft intercom audio feed and a suitable video recorder or microwave transmitter.

The unit is housed in a die-cast metal box with slotted flanges allowing mounting of the unit to any flat surface using four countersunk fixings.

- Die-cast aluminium enclosure with lap joint construction offering RF shielding and IP54 ingress protection
- Vibra smooth surface finish
- Flanged base allows wall or shelf mounting

Connection to the unit is via a single 9 pin "D" shell connector which carries the input and output signals. Mating connector is retained by two jacking posts.

The unit is passive, housing an impedance matching 1:1 high performance transformer, resin encapsulated in glass filled nylon case.

The input and output screens are connected to the transformer foil interwinding screen internally. The chassis pin is connected to the chassis of the box.

The input + is connected to the transformer via a series 10microfarad capacitor
